

Good morning families,

We had a great week back to school after spring break! It is so fun to watch them interact and form bonds with one another. They are very supportive of each other and are playing more and more in larger groups, as well as all together as a class on the playground. The children are all doing an amazing job participating in meeting and activities. Each one of them stood by themselves in front of the class for sharing time on yellow day and all of our friends cheered for each other. Mrs. Villone and I are very proud of them!

This week we will talk about rainbows and mixing colors. Tuesday the children will use rollers to make a rainbow picture. We will begin with the colors red, yellow, blue and purple on a paper and, as the paint is spread, we will make the colors orange and green. We will read the book What Makes a Rainbow and they will learn how a rainbow is formed. I will also do a fun rainbow swirl experiment with them.

On Thursday the class will be finger painting! We will give them two primary colors to mix to form another color. Please be sure to send their paint smock to school with them or dress them in clothes you don't mind getting messy. We will do a color mixing experiment this day as well.

Thank you all for sharing your little ones with us, they definitely put a smile on our faces!

See you Tuesday,

Joan
